Due Process, Mediation, and Complaints

Presented by

Angela Boddicker, SDDOE Special Education Programs

Angela reviewed the logs for the 2009-2010 school year concerning due process, mediation, and complaints. Most complaints are coming in from parents, possibly from SD Advocacy services for the parents. Angie explained that when parents call with concerns, she will refer them to SD Parent Connections, and Elaine Roberts, SD Parent Connections, indicated they have seen an increase in Navigator meetings. Parent Connections works on building relationships and the lower levels and using problem-solving in order to keep parents and districts out of the complaint process. Gail Eichstadt, SD Advocacy, stated that advocacy services are free of charge for parents, with the exception of instances when attorney fees can be collected. Complaints that are filed with the DOE indicate whether or not the parents have utilized and are working with SD Advocacy, however, each complaint goes through the same process, no matter whether or not SD Advocacy is involved. This does not effect the process or the outcome. Angie also noted that the complaint forms, along with the manuals are now available on the new DOE website. SD has 5 mediators, 4 in-state, the fifth from Utah, all contracted through TAESE. Discussion occurred concerning common issues and where they were being addressed; IEP workshops, 504 training, monthly SPED director calls, etc. Angie keeps an Issue Log year to year to ensure these issues are addressed through some means of resource for the districts. Elaine stated that Parent Connections also keeps a log of the issues that come into their office. Todd commented that not all issues can be addressed through trainings, some issues may not be due to lack of knowledge or information, but rather how/if the parents agree with what the district is doing. Elaine suggests that parents take a look at the Technical Assistance manuals. SEP brought in John Copenhaver to present "How to keep your district out of legal trouble..." in Pierre, and was open to sped directors. Marie suggested SEP invite John back to speak at a session at the CEC conference. Angie will be meeting with John, the mediators, and the hearing officers next month, and will review the panel's discussion and suggestions.

Children's Mental Health

Presented by

Elaine Roberts, South Dakota Parent Connections

The Division of Mental Health wants to make sure parents have supports to keep children out of corrections. The Division of Mental Health is working with Parent Connections to provide support and training to families. The goal is to have families help shape the Systems of Care in local areas. Elaine was seeking recommendations from the panel as what might be out there to assist SDPC in this process of working with these families whol children may be in the corrections system, day placements or out of state residential placements. One of the goals of Systems of Care is for all systems to work together to support kids with emotional, behavior and mental health issues and families in their communities.

State Initiatives

Presented by

Micky Wienk and Colby Christensen, TIE

Colby and Micky presented on the results of the Year 3 Data Report for Response to Intervention (RtI) and Positive Behavior Interventions and Supports (PBIS) pilot projects. Overall response rates for both projects was high, where 85% of superintendents responded on the PBIS survey and 62% teachers responded. 6% of the state's enrollment participated in the PBIS initiative and 9% in RtI across K-8. Micky requested the panel provide recommendations to the state directors of each project for moving forward, these were the panel's comments:

- ❖ PD and retraining more difficult, needs to be embedded in teacher ed. Programs
- ❖ Needs to be sold to administrators; have successful districts present their findings and stories
- ❖ Needs to be hammered as a regular ed initiative vs. special ed
- ❖ Possibly add Rapid City to the survey and data collection
- ❖ Even though districts may have indicated that there is administrative support, are they aware of what is going on with implementation in their schools? Is it being done with fidelity?
- ❖ Suggest pilot schools implementing to have teacher practicum/student teachers
- ❖ Stories of success need to be shared statewide!
- ❖ $$, attach to implementing the initiatives (Title???), must include in app and following state guidelines or holding until completed
- ❖ use IHE to help in the collection of effectiveness

Northern Hills Training Center

Presented by

Chris Davis, Fred Romkema, Kris Dower, Carl Edwards, NHTC, Spearfish, SD

Northern Hills Training Center is an accredited school, and services most of the Northern Hills area. Districts may call as early as age 14 for support with transitioning into adulthood. NHTC is responsible for developing Individual Support Plans for the individuals they work with. They follow the process of person-centered thinking and plans are built around what the person wants for themselves. In an ISP, the focus shifts from academics to what the person wants and needs in adulthood. They are working hard at finding ways to work with districts to mesh together IEPs and ISPs. They also provide day services to students who may be 18+ years of age, working during the day. They are spending a great deal of time educating the parents as well, and asking them for their involvement, as some parents may have varying expectations than they did many years ago.

Post-Secondary Disability Services

Presented by Mike McNeil, BHSU

Mike may meet with students as early as new student registration and fair and the beginning of the year, or he may be in contact with them during their junior/senior year of high school and make appointments to visit about what services are available. Mike reminded the group that no work is modified, but some accommodations may be made. He will also meet with parents, but encourages students to be self-advocates. Students must provide documentation of their disability, therefore, districts should not forego evaluations at the end of the student's high school career, as the college will require this information. The cost of these evaluations will be at the student's expense if not completed by the district prior to attending. Many national testing companies, such as ETS, will require this information as well for testing accommodations. Mike stated that he works with approximately 100 students per semester in writing accommodations. These accommodations may include replacing chairs/desks, extended time and alternative locations for testing, readers, such as Kurzweil and Dragon Naturally Speaking, preferential seating, note taking, electronic texts, etc. Students may also access tutors through Students Support Services in the Writing and Math Centers on campus. Mike has presented at TSLP events such as Catch the Wave in Rapid City. He also presents to faculty about service that are available. Referrals for services may come from professors, parents, the admissions office, etc. He highly encourages students to utilize the tools that are available at the high school level, so they come in already knowing what services area available.

BHSU Teacher Preparation

Presented by
Dr. Nancy Hall, BHSU

Dr. Hall reviewed the Impact Survey for BHSU College of Education outlining BHSU's five year strategic plan for implementing key strategies to ensure the quality of its graduates. BHSU's enrollment in the teacher education program has increased by 13% since 2005, with an increase in degrees granted growing 37% since 2005. Professional Development schools have been established in Rapid City, Gillette, Lead-Deadwood and Belle Fourche. Dr. Hall informed the panel about the online Special Education endorsement offered at BHSU.

Teacher Learning Center

Presented by
Sue McGrath, BHSU, West Elementary

The panel had the opportunity to view the observation classrooms, while Sue described the research and theory incorporated into the development of the classrooms. The observation rooms are utilized by parents, teachers, BHSU students, etc.

Special Education Program Updates

Presented by
Alicia Schoenhard, SDDOE

Alicia updated the panel on the upcoming IEP workshops across the state, the new regression chart, updated Parent Handbook, and Eligibility Guide. She also reviewed the changes to Preschool LRE data collection, and covered the standards-based IEP training, HS Sped Transition survey results, and the Dropout Prevention Training with the National Dropout Prevention Center. Alicia reminded the panel about the monthly SPED director calls, and the Summer Conference and first statewide RtI Conference, both taking place during the summer of 2011. The panel also held discussion concerning the redesign of the SDDOE website.

Schedule Upcoming Meeting

The panel tentatively agreed to hold the January meeting in Pierre on the 6th - 7th, and the April meeting in Brookings on the 18th - 19th. Gail is going to send Alicia contact information for a presenter in Pierre concerning TBI. Marie is going to check on locations for the meeting Brookings. Panel members are encouraged to contact Alicia with agenda items and/or speakers. Pending weather conditions, the January meeting may be held via LiveMeeting webconferencing.
